FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Breeze Airways Adds Four New Cities, 22 New Routes in 2027 Network Expansion

-- New Service Includes Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and 11 Nonstops That Will Make Breeze Myrtle Beach's Largest Airline --

SALT LAKE CITY (October 13, 2026) – Breeze Airways, the Seriously Nice™ high-value, low-cost airline offering direct flights from underserved markets, today announced 22 new routes and four new cities – Boston; Buffalo, N.Y.; Latrobe, Pa.; and Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, the airline's newest international destination – with fares starting from $49* one way.

The expansion also includes 11 new nonstop routes to and from Myrtle Beach, S.C., growing Breeze's seats there by 70% in January of 2027 when compared to January of 2026. With these additions, Breeze will lead all carriers at Myrtle Beach International Airport in both destinations served and seats offered by the second quarter of 2027.

"Every route we add to our network starts with the same question: where can Breeze's direct service bring travelers a convenience they don't already enjoy today?" said David Neeleman, Breeze Airways' founder and CEO. "These new routes and destinations now bring Breeze's high-value, low-cost service to 95 cities, making affordable travel to great destinations more convenient than ever."

Beginning today, travelers can book the following flights on Breeze:
